Introduction

Made with all-natural materials, including pure virgin wool, jute, and sisal, master artisans oversee every step of the rug-making process, from the shearing of the sheep right through to the finishing. We believe that in order to make a rug of the highest quality, the process must be perfected at every step.

The careful selection of renewable raw materials and use of sustainable and ecologically sound methods ensures these rugs maintain the highest standards. The wool is protected from moth damage prior to spinning with a certified environmentally friendly agent. The dyes are heavy-metal-free, strictly controlled products from Switzerland and ensure the weavers, atmosphere, and water are protected. Of course, no children are involved in the work process. These beautiful, sustainable rugs bring a sophisticated yet organic look to any space.

Each collection is run as a custom program—select a style and a color to create a unique look.
